

SoftXpand takes home Best Software 2008

SoftXpand named BiT Magazine's 'Best Software 2008; After an interesting and exciting 2008, seeing the release of many new and excellent products, MiniFrameUK's Multiseat computing software SoftXpand has seen off the competition to be named Best Software 2008.

All products covered by the magazine over the past 12 months were grouped into best in class categories before going up before BiT's panel of industry experts.

SoftXpand was pitted against Mac OS X Leopard, Pinnacle Video Spin, Vegas Movie Platinum Edition 8 and Firefox 3.

BiT is the leading technology voice for the Latin American speaking IT expert, published in Portugal. A spokesperson for BiT commented;

"The world is concerned about money and about the environment. SoftXpand is designed to cut costs and reduce the environmental impact of IT. It does these 2 things better than anything else available".

"SoftXpand's designers have gone back to the future to provide the market with a solution that gives computing power back to the user whilst reducing running and acquisition costs, without using virtualisation".

"We call it the multiplication miracle!"

Roger Anscombe, Managing Director of Derbyshire based MiniFrameUK is delighted with the award;

"This just reinforces the strength of the Multiseat computing concept as well as the software itself. Not only is this the Ultimate Green Solution as recognised by the Green Organisation, but now the best software of 2008".
